

Team Contribution Statement

Rosemond Osei serves as Project Lead, providing clinical expertise, maternal health leadership, product strategy, and overall project management. Samuel Danquah Ankapong leads the technical development of the platform, including AI systems, voice-call integration, and dashboard implementation. Grace Ametepi contributes data science and health technology expertise, supporting analytics and AI-driven insights. Martha Afful provides business analytics expertise, guiding market assessment, sustainability planning, and strategic decision-making. Together, the team combines expertise in healthcare, artificial intelligence, data science, business analytics, and project management to develop and implement MamaCare AI.